HARMONY IS THE KEYNOTE

REPUBLICAN VISITORS LEAVE WITH THANKS FOR HOSTS.

TO SUPPORT ABLE MAN

Phares and Voorhees. Unanimous Choices, Want Candidate Who Is For Middle West.

With a rising vote of thanks for the hospitality extended by Maryville and for the fine dinner at the First M. E. Church, the Fourth Congressional Republican convention, meeting for the third time in Maryville, adjourned at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a most harmonious session.

Following election of the delegates by acclamation the convention was addressed by three Republican candidates for nomination for state offices, the two delegates and Mrs. G. L. Zwick, of St. Joseph, endorsed for delegate-at-large to the national Republican convention.

W. F. Phares of Maryville, who, with Bert G. Voorhees of St. Joseph, was a unanimous choice for delegate to the Kansas City convention, stated that since he had reached his majority, he had fought for the principles of the party and assured the delegates that he and Mr. Voorhees would vote for presidential candidate who is an outstanding and able man.

"We will vote for no one who is besmirched with oil," Phares concluded, "but hope that there will be enough oil on the organization machinery to elect whoever is nominated."

For Sympathy With Midwest.

Mr. Voorhees told the convention he especially was glad to have been elected at Maryville because it is the best city for its size in the world and that he was happy to be named a delegate with his old friend, Mr. Phares. Mr. Voorhees stated that he was chosen by a majority at a primary held in Buchanan County, he was glad he was not a hand picked candidate and that he would vote for a man for president who is in sympathy for the needs of the Middle West.

William R. Schneider, speaker pro tem of the state house of representatives, candidate for nomination for governor, took a slap at hand picked candidates, stating he did not favor the methods employed by the so-called St. Louis "boss," indicating the candidacy of Judge Caulfield. He announced himself on a platform of business methods in government, advocated consolidation of governamental departments, a uniform system of accounting in state affairs; a central state purchasing agent and budgetary information which would give the legislature knowledge of the needs of the state departments.

Mr. Schneider said savings can be made by more efficient governmental handling of money, which could be expended to good advantage by state institutions and schools.

L. D. Thompson, candidate for re election to state auditor, told of the savings made by the Republican administrations since 1921 on a budget system, mentioning savings made in the purchase of light bulbs and water used in buildings at the state capital. Mr. Thompson said he sought re-election on his record.

No Platform for Brunk.

Larry Brunk, state senator from Aurora, candidate for nomination for treasurer, did not announce any platform or advance any policies. But he did keep the delegates in good humor and told them that he traveled from Houston, Mo., where a meeting was Monday, in order to be here yesterday. He spoke highly of the harmony prevailing in the convention here and praised the meal served at the church at noon, saying it was the first free meal he had eaten since announcing for treasurer.

Telegrams from W. F. Norris, candidate for the nomination for treasurer; Frank H. Wielandy, candidate for the nomination for governor; and A. W. Steinbeck, editor of the Union Republican and candidate for state treasurer, were read at the meeting.

Mrs. Zwick said she appreciated the honor bestowed upon her by her endorsement as delegate-at-large.

This morning's Kansas City Times had the following:

"While this is one of the richest agricultural sections in the state, there is a far-reaching political unrest among the farmers. One banker likened it to the Populist wave of 1896. But there is apparently no great amount of last-ditch farm sentiment for Lowden.

AGAIN HEADS ORGANIZATION

JOHN G. GREMS PRESIDENT OF HOMESTEAD AND LOAN.

FORTY - SECOND TIME

Directors of Association Hold Election This Morning.—McDougal Only Secretary.

For the forty-second consecutive year, John G. Grems was elected this morning as president of the Maryville Homestead and Loan Association.

The election took place at an organization meeting of directors, following an election by stockholders last Friday.

All other officers were re-elected: Nick Sturm as vice-president; R. L. McDougal, secretary; and W. C. Pierce, treasurer.

Mr. Grems and Mr. McDougal were chiefly responsible for the organization of the association on March 26, 1886. Mr. Grems was one of the original directors and the only one still serving. Governor A. P. Morehouse was chosen as the association's first president, but he resigned in about a year, and Mr. Grems was elected president. He has held the office ever since.

Mr. McDougal was made secretary at the birth of the organization and has served continuously in that capacity.

The capital stock of the association originally was $150,000, but it was increased at various times and now is $2,000,000.

The semi-annual statement shows total resources of $460,134. First mortgage loans on real estate are $374,400, loans on stock $11,300, and there is $72,313.61 cash on hand. The total number of shares of stock in force is 6,921, and their total value is $455,825.26, according to the statement.

The stockholders last week ratified a change in the by-laws which will permit the association to make loans on stock anywhere in Missouri. Heretofore it has been limited to loans on property in Nodaway county.

The men who, back in 1886, framed the articles of association, were Henry Toel, H. E. Robinson, John G. Grems, B. A. Dunn, B. E. Condon, E. A. Vinsonhaler, J. M. Hosmer, Charles Hyslop, James Todd and William H. Howell.

The first directors were A. P. Morehouse, Charles Hyslop, Henry Toel, John G. Grems, George S. Crump, J. M. Hosmer, J. Woodson Smith, E. A. Vinsonhaler and O. S. Hotchkin. Mr. Hotchkin, father of D. E. Hotchkin, was the first treasurer.

Mr. Hyslop is no longer a member.

The present directors are Mr. Grems Mr. Sturm, Mr. Pierce, W. F. Phares, J. C. Allender, Richard Kuehs, H. H. Mutz, Roy Curfman and Peter Dietz.

Will Move to Shenandoah.

C. D. Forsythe of Maryville, Mo., who has been with J. H. Gray in the oil business for several years will move his wife and three children to Shenandoah, having taken a position here with the Independent Oil Company, managed by F. M. Carpenter, Mr. Gray's son-in-law. Mr. Carpenter is installing two ten-gallon pumps and one five-gallon pump at the oil station preparatory to the summer tourist and visitors trade.—Shenandoah Sentinel.

CRAIG GIRL IS BEST STUDENT

MISS DOEBBELING, SENIOR, HIGHEST IN WORK AT COLLEGE.

A FRESHMAN SECOND

Eight Are Given Honorable Mention By President Lamkin at College Assembly Today.

Five E's for twelve and a half hours credit and an S in physical education for good measure is the scholastic record of Miss Susie Doebbeling of Craig, senior, made last quarter to carry off scholastic honors at the State Teachers College, President Uel W. Lamkin announced at assembly this morning.

Miss Doebbeling did not have any snap courses either, for she took excess work and carried the following subjects in addition to the non-credit course of physical education: History of education, senior chemistry, land economics, general economics, and nutrition.

A close second for scholastic honors for the quarter was Miss Audra Brazelton, of Blythedale, a freshman at the College. Miss Brazelton carried the regular course of ten hours and made four E's in addition to an M in her non-credit course in physical education. She took American history, rural school management, citizenship, and principles of teaching.

Eight on "Honorable Mention."

These were the only two students making all E's last quarter. President Lamkin announced a list of eight others deserving of "honorable mention." With one exception these students made only one S and the rest E's. Mrs. Lena Leeson of Maryville made two E's in the two courses she was taking. Miss Jean Freeland of Sheridan, an honor student of the fall quarter, made four E's, one S and an M in psysical education last quarter. The other students on the honorable mention list are:

J. C. Bennett, King City, 4 E's and an S; Miss Katherine Mills, 4 E's and 2 S's; Paschal Monk, Burlington Junction, 2 E's and 2 S's; Burl Beam, Maryville, 3 E's and 2 S's; Miss Susie Hankins, Osborne, 3 E's and 2 S's; and Miss Kathleen Jones of Parnell, 3 E's and 2 S's.

A look into the scholastic record of Miss Doebbeling reveals some interesting point. She finished the regular four-year high school course at Craig in three years. During the time she was in high school she took extension work, and in the summers attended school here so that by the time she was ready to enter the College as a freshman in September of her first year she had thirty hours of College credit.

For the last six terms she has carried excess work to make 66½ hours credit. During that time she made one M, ten S's, and fifteen E's. She now has more than 150 hours of college credit.

Unlike many other students, Miss Doebbeling has other interests. This year she has been active in girls' athletics, making the volley ball Varsity team, and participating in the girls' swimming meets. She has also been active in the Kappa Omicron Phi and the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Doebbeling is majoring in home economics and also has a major in chemistry. She is planning to do research work in chemistry as it applies to the home economics field. Her plans for the summer are not definite but next fall she will enroll in the graduate school at Columbia University, New York.

To Consider Tax Cut April 3, Smoot Says

Senate Finance Committee Then To Decide Whether Hearings Should Be Held on Bill.

Washington, Mar. 21.—The House tax reduction bill will be taken up by the Senate finance committee April 3, Chairman Smoot announced to the Senate today.

Smoot said the committee would then decide whether hearings should be held on the measure and would hear treasury department officials report the amounts of revenue from the March 15 income tax payments.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, protested that the committee should meet earlier, and asked Smoot to arrange it.

Smoot replied there was no doubt that a tax revision bill should be passed at this session of congress.

STREETS GET BATH TO BEGIN CITY CLEAN-UP

Winter's Accumulation of Dirt Washed From Gutters.—Will Haul Rubbish Tomorrow.

Maryville's annual spring two-day clean-up, announced for tomorrow and Friday, was preceded today by washing of the downtown pavements by streams of water from fire hydrants. Cleaning off the winter's accumulation of dirt from the gutters will be followed by the painting of parking marks on the paving and the designation of safety zones at the intersections.

Acting Mayor Hotchkin today again urged Maryville citizens to co-operate with the city in the spring cleaning. Rubbish placed on the parkways by noon Thursday will be collected by city trucks.

Brownsville, Me., March 21.—J. Kelly of the Pleasant River Pulp Company, near here, has been requested by an official of the Canadian Pacific Railroad to send men to White Cap Mountain, where two bodies and wreckage of an airplane were reported found, he told the United Press today.

Kelley said the request was made after the reported sighting of wreckage in the woods on the face of the mountain 15 miles from here by a Canadian government plane.

A party of 10 men was preparing to leave for the mountain at noon.

Kelley said no one in Brownville, so far as he knew, had reported seeing any wreckage or bodies.

NO SECRECY, SAYS MARSH

DEMOCRATIC CONTRIBUTIONS NOT CONCEALED, HE DECLARES.

HARD TO GET IN 1923

Doheny's $34,900 the Only Oil Donation to Party That Former Treasurer Recalls.

Washington. Mar. 21. — Wilbur Marsh, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, told the Senate Teapot Dome committee today he had no understanding with the late Fred Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee, to conceal campaign contributions. A sub-committee at Chicago had received testimony as to such an alleged agreement.

Marsh said the Democrats received no contributions he would desire to conceal, or any "unusual" contributions.

"But every contribution in 1923 was unusual—they were so hard to get," he commented.

"Never Any Agreement."

Upham's secretaries, Irl Hipsley and A. V. Leonard, had testified Upham had informed them he had a secret understanding with Marsh.

"There was never any such agreement nor conversation relating to such an agreement," Marsh said.

"My relations with Upham were cordially friendly. I was never in his office in my life. Any times I met him were in hotel lobbies and on the streets. All the contributions that we received are matters of record. There weren't any contributions that we were unwilling to make public."

Marsh, treasurer of the Democratic committee from 1916 to 1924, said the party deficit for the 1920 campaign was $200,000 and the 1922 deficit was about the same.

Tried to Wipe It Out.

Like the Republicans, the Democrats made strenuous efforts to clean up that deficit in 1923 before the 1924 presidential campaign, he said.

Cordell Hull, then chairman, was active in raising that fund, he added.

Chairman Nye asked Marsh if he knew that E. L. Doheny, lessee of the Elk Hills naval reserve, contributed $75,000.

Walsh interrupted to say Doheny had said he gave $75,000 to the Democrats while George White, who received the contribution, said Doheny gave only $34,900.

Nye then asked about that discrepancy.

"Whatever Doheny gave is all a part of our record," Marsh said. "I never solicited any funds from him."

Walsh told Nye the evidence showed Doheny gave his contribution in 1920.

Recalls No Other Oil Gifts.

Marsh said John T. Barnett of Denver had contributed often to the Democratic national committee. He did not know whether Barnett was a friend of H. M. Blackmer, missing oil witness, or whether Blackmer gave any money to the Democrats.

Marsh said he could not recall whether Harry Sinclair, oil magnate, had given any money to the Democrats but again referred Nye to the record of receipts filed.

"There was no destruction of our records and no concealment of them," Marsh said. "Every dollar we received is accounted for."

Marsh said the Democrats never received any Liberty Loan bonds. He was then excused.

Walsh then called attention to White's testimony in 1924 that Sinclair gave no money to the Democrats and was not solicited because he was a Republican, White then testified Doheny gave him four checks totalling $34,900 in 1920 and 1921.

The committee then adjourned subject to call later.

Congressional Medal Presented Lindbergh

Nation's Highest Award Given Aviator by Coolidge at White House Ceremony.

Washington, March 21.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh received from President Coolidge today the Congressional Medal of Honor—the nation's highest award.

The medal, voted Lindbergh by Congress in recognition of his trans-Atlantic flight of last May, was presented at the White House in a simple ceremony attended by cabinet members, prominent army, navy and marine officials, and congressmen.

Overrules Blackmer's Motion for Dismissal

Justice Siddons Upholds Constitutionality of Walsh Act Permitting Subpoena of Citizen Abroad.

Washington, March 21. — Justice Frederick L. Siddons of the District of Columbia supreme court today overruled a motion of attorneys for Harry M. Blackmer, missing Teapot Dome oil witness, for dismissal of contempt proceedings against the defendant and restoration of $100,000 worth of property siezed from Blackmer pending settlement of the case.

Siddon's decision upheld the constitutionality of the Walsh act which permits courts to subpoena a citizen of the United States living abroad. He said "it appears clear that the allegiance of a citizen of the United States, actually living in a foreign jurisdiction, includes the duty of obedience to the laws of the sovereignty to which the allegiance is due. Indeed without such obedience, allegiance would be but an empty name."

369 MILLIONS FOR THE NAVY

TOTAL IN BILL, REPORTED TODAY, IS LARGEST SINCE 1922.

OUTLOOK NOT BRIGHT

Expenditures Will Mount Rather Than Decrease, Committee Says.—Aviation Gets More.

Washington, Mar. 21.—The largest expenditure for the naval establishment since before the Washington Arms Conference in 1922 is provided in the annual navy appropriation bill reported to the House today by its appropriations committee.

The amount, $369,190,259, includes funds for continuing construction of ten vessels now being built; modernizing of two others, including gun elevation; beginning work on two new dirigibles; building two more submarine salvage vessels and additional airplanes; and maintaining the marine corps in its activities at home and on foreign fields in Nicaragua and China.

Pointing out this increased expenditure, the committee says further it can see "no prospect of declining naval costs in the immediate future," but that "all indications point to an appreciable upward trend."

Bigger Sums in Future.

The large outlay for 1929, which this bill provides, "is brought about chiefly by the mounting cost of naval aviation and the heavier ship construction draft that may be expected during 1929 by reason of the fact that all of the eight 10,000-ton cruisers authorized in 1924 will be under construction at one time," it was said.

Looking further into the future, with an eye to the additional sixteen vessels authorized in the bill recently passed by the House, the committee says that funds necessary will "swell the aggregate of future annual appropriation bills to sums considerably in excess of the total of the bill herewith presented."

The total of direct appropriations in the measure is only $20,000,000 more than provided last year, but with appropriations already authorized in the urgent deficiency bill at the outset of session, the increase this year will be nearly $43,000,000.

This bill carries no funds for the new 16-ship program but provides $48,000,000 for work upon vessels previously authorized, eight cruisers and two submarines. It provides for 83,250 enlisted men and 8,745 officers, and for maintaining 318 vessels in service.

More to Aviation.

Aviation gets a lion's share, a total of $31,315,000, or $11,215,000 more than last year. Part of this is for new planes to carry out the five-year aviation building program, while $1,800,000 is provided for beginning work upon the two 6,000,000 cubic foot dirigibles for which $200,000 was appropriated last session.

In authorizing the two new submarine salvage vessels, the committee says this was "prompted by the salvage disaster to the submarine S-4." This will provide five salvage vessels, one each for the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, the Canal Zone, the Philippines and Hawaii.

The committee also provided $200,000 to enable the navy department to make a careful investigation of submarine safety devices.

SMITH CHARGE HAS REBOUND

SENATOR ROBINSON UNDER SCATHING ATTACK IN SENATE.

SINCLAIR GIFT DENIED

Critic of New York Governor Draws Fire Upon Indiana Politics.

Washington, March 21.—Senator Arthur Robinson of Indiana was put under a scathing attack by numerous Democrats in the Senate today when he renewed his charge that Harry F. Sinclair, central figure in the Teapot Dome scandal, was a friend and appointee of Governor Al Smith of New York.

Robinson admitted on questioning by Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Miss., that his law firm had acted for D. C. Stephenson, deposed Ku Klux Klan leader in Indiana, now in the state penitentiary there.

The counter attack from Democrats came after Robinson had asserted Sinclair was a friend of Smith and that "birds of a feather flock together."

Senator Barkley, Democrat, Ky., asked if that statement went back to the time in Indiana when Robinson was appointed by a governor who, Barkley said, was now in the penitentiary.

"It has never been said that Harry Sinclair came into the state," Robinson retorted.

Harrison asked if it was not true that the mayor of Indianapolis, the chairman of the Republican state committee, the chairman of the Marion County Republican committee and four Indianapolis councilmen either were in the penitentiary or under indictment.

Not Defending Governor.

Robinson replied that Harrison's question was so inclusive he could not be sure if Harrison was accurate.

"But you say birds of a feather flock together," Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, broke in.

"Does the senator challenge my appointment by the governor of Indiana?" Robinson asked. "If he does I will say that later I was elected by the people of Indiana."

"Will the senator from Indiana defend the governor of Indiana?" Barkley again asked. "I understand when he went to the penitentiary he found the preceding governor coming out of the penitentiary."

"I am not here defending the governor of Indiana," Robinson said.

"Will the senator from Indiana say whether he was attorney for D. C. Stephenson?" Harrison then asked.

"That is all a matter of record," Robinson answered. "I will say that I—well not I, but my law firm—acted for Stephenson in some civil suits."

Denies Smith a Sinclair Appointee.

Charges that Gov. Smith received campaign contributions from Sinclair were denounced as "vile, vicious and unfounded" by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, at the opening of the Senate today.

"The Governor's letter to Senator Nye has shown conclusively how false and unfair were the charges made here in the Senate," Copeland said. "It shows what an upright, dependable and untarnished statesman Smith is."

Copeland had Smith's reply to Nye read from the Senate rostrum. This brought an immediate sarcastic response from Senator Robinson.

Want Mellon's Resignation.

Independent Republicans and Democrats were organizing a movement in the Senate to put through the Couzens resolution demanding resignation of Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, author of the resolution, announced to the United Press that he would consent to no substantial delay in action upon the matter and that he would not permit the resolution to be sidetracked if he could prevent it.

The independent bloc of a dozen senators is firmly behind Couzens, as are most of the Democrats; if the Democrats continue to hold together the resolution is expected to pass by a substantial majority.

Although Couzens cited numerous acts of the secretary in relation to his varied business holdings and tax cases tried in his department, the Senator based his resolution primarily upon the fact that Mellon had concealed for four years the fact that Will Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, attempted in 1923 to get him secretly to handle $50,000 of liberty bonds Hays obtained from Harry Sinclair, oil man, as a campaign contribution.

SPRING HERE, BUT IT'S MORE LIKE SUMMER

Thermometer Records Temperature of 78 Today.—Overcoats and Red Flannels Are Shed.

Although Spring was ushered in officially only yesterday, summer-like weather prevailed here today. The maximum thermometer reading at 2 o'clock was 78, according to J. R. Brink, official weather observer.

The highest temperatures on this day, according to Mr. Brink, were 91 in 1907, 78 in 1910 and 82 in 1916.

Planting of gardens and preparation of fields for sowing of oats is common and most of the gardens have their potatoes already planted.

The day still held a touch of March when a blustery wind came up at noon. Overcoats were discarded as well as many woolen "undies".

Probably Will Continue.

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 21.—Spring weather prevailed throughout the Southwest today and probably will continue throughout the week, the weather observer forecast today.

Temperatures went above 60 degrees today in Missouri and eastern Kansas and will reach about the same mark tomorrow, the forecast said.

Mild temperatures were general over the entire southwest area.

The national air of the installment house is to be "In the Sweet Buy and Buy."

This and That

The courtroom and corridors of the courthouse were never so clean as they were yesterday for the fourth congressional convention. Too bad we don't have a Republican convention every day. And the decorations in the circuit court room made even that barn-like room present an entirely different appearance.

The delegates and visitors here yesterday for the convention were loud in their praises of the hospitality of Maryville. The Republicans of Maryville and the county were hosts at the dinner at the First M. E. Church at noon and then the visitors were taken for a ride to the State Teachers College.

Dr. Sanders, dean of Park College, Parkville, and Mr. Knight, business manager of that college, were two of the delegates from Platte County at the convention. They were accompanied here by Mr. Wells of the mathematics department of Park College.

BAKER WOULD FAVOR HUGHES

SAYS FORMER SECRETARY NOT OUT OF RUNNING.

"HONESTY" IS ISSUE

Governor Thinks Lowden Choice of Many Republicans and Believes Hoover Will Lead Early Balloting.

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of interviews with political leaders of the state.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 21.—Governor Sam A. Baker favors the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes for President and believes that honesty in government is the principal issue in the coming campaign, he told the United Press in an interview.

"Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois probably is the choice of most Republicans in Missouri today," Governor Baker said. "But it must be remembered that many changes are possible between now and election day.

"Herbert Hoover will lead the field in the early balloting at Kansas City, with Lowden second, and probably Curtis third. If there is a deadlock it is not improbable that Charles E. Hughes may be drafted, despite his announcement that he is not a candidate.

"Hughes is not out of national politics or he would not have accepted the invitation to deliver the keynote address at the national convention in June," Governor Baker said. "I am confident he would accept the nomination, and I think he stands a pretty good chance of getting it."

This was the first time Governor Baker has expressed either a political or personal preference for any presidential candidate. He had remained silent despite repeated rumors that the administration favored the candidacy of Lowden.

FROM FOUR SCHOOLS

Barnard, Gaynor and College High Each Send One Representative.—Maryville Has Two.

Five orators from four schools will compete in the Nodaway County Oratorical Contest on the Constitution here tomorrow night, to determine the county's representative in the district contest to be held at Unionville, March 30.

The contest will begin at 8 o'clock and is to be held in the auditorium of the Maryville high school.

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, is chairman of the contest in this county and will preside tomorrow night.

All the orators are boys, not a girl in the county taking part this year. "The Development of The Constitution" is the subject which each orator will use. The matter contained in their orations has been drawn from their own study and writing.

The county contestants follow:

Gaynor High School: Clyde Sparks.

Barnard High School: George Hargraves.

State Teachers College High School: Lester Hall.

Maryville High School: Arthur Brewer and Marvin Shamberger.

The names of the judges will not be announced.

Sodality Scores Hit in "Mary Magdalene"

Drama Given by Women's Church Organization at Parnell Sunday.—To Give It at Conception March 25.

In presenting the inspiring drama, "Mary Magdalene," at St. Joseph's Hall in Parnell Sunday night, the Young Ladies' Sodality scored a decided success. That the large audience appreciated the efforts of the cast was evidenced by unfailing attention and the compliments following.

Scenery and costuming of the extraordinary type, as well as the performance of the actors, left a favorable impression on the audience. The difficult characterization of Mary Magdalene, with her many whims was accomplished with skill by Mildred Hall. Appearing as the haughty, impassioned, wealthy lady-love of a Roman captain in the first act, she ultimately disappears in the third act as an humble, inspired servant.

This change was effected to a great extent by Marcella, her solicitous attendant (Veronica Hall), by Martha, her sister, (Florence Boedecker), her faithful friend (Beatrice Hall), and her favorite child-friend (Francis Boedeked). Three other attendants, Bernice Spire, Louise Boedeker and Emma Auffart, completed the cast.

Vocal specialties were given by Mrs. J. Berg and the Misses Mildred and Veronica Hall and Florence Boedeker. The Auer orchestra played during the evening.

This drama will be staged again at the Conception Parish Hall, at 8:00 Sunday night, March 25.

IMPROVEMENT FOR THEATER

EXTENSIVE PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR THE ELECTRIC.

TO HAVE NEW FRONT

New Ceiling and Roof to Be Constructed and Building Generally Remodeled.

Improvements which will make a radical change in the appearance of the Electric Theater, on East Third street, are being planned and will be made soon, according to J. Ray Cook, manager.

Application has been made to the city council for a permit to repair the interior of the building and to place a marquise, of somewhat the same design as the one in front of the Missouri Theater, across the entire front.

The city council will meet Saturday night to act on the application.

If the council grants the permit, the theater management intends to install a new front, make a small lobby, erect a small stage, put in a new projection booth, repaint the walls, put on a new ceiling and roof, and to make a general remodeling of the building, which will include improvements to the second story front rooms for office purposes.

A cooling and ventilating system and new lighting fixtures may be installed, it was announced. The total cost of the improvements has not been estimated.

The application of the theater management states that the proposed marquise for the building will be constructed of steel and non-inflammable materials, will be ten feet above the sidewalk and extend out from the front of the building eight feet.

Two other applications have been filed with the city clerk.

Mrs. Ellen Taylor asked permission to erect a garage on the northwest corner of Vine and First streets. The specifications are for a building 10 by 18 feet to cost approximately $150.

Arnold-Strong Motor Co. filed application for a permit to place a metal sign, 27 by 3½ feet against the wall of the motor car sales building at 118 West Second street, eleven feet above the sidewalk.

Shank Forced Down on Endurance Flight

St. Paul, Minn., Mar. 21.—Fourteen hours after taking off in his Waco plane in an attempt to break the world's endurance flight record, Gene Shank, St. Paul student-aviator, was forced down by a broken gas line at 3 a. m. today. Shank took off yesterday with 120 gallons of gasoline and planned to refuel in the air this morning by means of a 150 foot hose suspended from another plane.

"Little Black Box" Back to Prominence

Demand for Senatorial Investigation of Indiana State Political Conditions Made by Vincennes Editor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 21.—The "Little Black Box" of D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan dragon, has returned to political prominence in Indiana as a result of a demand for a senatorial investigation of state political conditions.

Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes editor and candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, asked the investigation in a telegram to Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, Kansas.

Describing the situation in the Hoosier state as "worse, if possible, than the Teapot Dome scandal," Adams urged that the government open the "little black box." He charged there was evidence in the box to show Stephenson "made contracts with two congressmen for political patronage."

Senator Capper was appealed to, it was said, because of a recent speech in which he suggested a "nationwide cleanup."

MAY ASK OIL RESOLUTION AT G. O. P. MEET

Mayor Kiel of St. Louis May Lead Movement at St. Joseph to Denounce High Officials.

Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 21.—The Republican state convention at St. Joseph Monday may find itself confronted with a resolution denouncing high Republican officials in the oil scandal during the administration of President Harding.

Reports here were to the effect that such a resolution will be introduced by Henry W. Kiel of St. Louis, Chairman of the state central committee, and other party leaders. It was understood a tentative draft of the resolution directed at those who have been named in the oil scandal already has been written.

Such a move, it was said, would place the party in a more favorable light in Missouri in the coming campaign.

Fall, Nearing End, Willing to Tell All

Informed He Has Only Few Months to Live, Former Secretary Would Testify Again.

Washington, Mar. 21.—The Senate Teapot Dome committee may go to El Paso soon to hear the story of Secretary of Interior Fall, its members indicated today when shown dispatches that Fall desired to tell the story of his connection with the Teapot Dome lease.

The committee will communicate with Fall to ascertain if he will tell his story to a sub-committee if it is sent to El Paso, it was learned.

El Paso, Tex., Mar. 21.—Doctors have informed Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, that he has only six or seven months more to live and he is ready to tell the entire story of the lease of Teapot Dome to the Sinclair interests, he told the El Paso Post, a Scripps-Howard paper, here today.

"Some of my doctors tell me I have only six or seven months to live," he said. "I may fool some of the persons who have been expecting me to die.

"I want the public to known my story. I want to tell the whole story and not just part of it.

"I will make no objections to giving an answer to any question the government may care to ask me," he said.

"I always intended to testify when the case came to trial. I still have that intention. I never have been a liar, but I never have been in a position yet where I could go on the stand and tell the whole story—every word of it.

"Doctors say I can't go to Washington. But I can sit here in my home for a half hour or so at a time and submit to questioning and cross examination if they will take it easy.

Admits "Something" Overlooked at Dam

Builders to Blame In Disaster, Says Engineer.—Investigate a Dynamiting Charge.

Los Angeles, Cal., Mar. 21.—"Something" was overlooked by the engineers who built the ill-fated St. Francis dam, William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles water board, admitted at the coroner's inquest here today.

His voice shaking and his hands trembling, Mulholland made this statement as his only explanation for the disaster when asked if he could give any cause for the collapse of the mighty concrete structure whose collapse caused death and destruction in the Santa Paula Valley.

The inquest, presided over by Coroner Frank Nance, was the fifth separate investigation begun in the disaster, the government, state, city and county, already having started inquiry.

The finding of a map, markings on which resembled those on a map found near the Los Angeles aqueduct after attempted dynamitings there, led yesterday to charges St. Francis dam had been dynamited. It was also reported a flash had been seen at the dam just before the concrete will gave way.

LOWDEN AND SMITH GAIN

NORTH DAKOTA GIVES FORMER 13 VOTES, LATTER 10.

REED INTO WISCONSIN

Missourian to Make Three-Day Tour of State, Seeking to Break Smith's Grip.

Bismarck, N. D., Mar. 21.—Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, received 2,024 votes for the Republican presidential nomination, and Gov. Al Smith, New York, polled at total of 1,673 for the Democratic nomination in 566 of North Dakota's 2,042 precincts in Tuesday's primary election, returns revealed today.

It was the lightest primary vote in the history of the state. The two candidates were unopposed and this fact together with lack of interest in state issues was held as the cause of the light vote.

Chicago, Mar. 21.—Pre-convention campaigns of presidential aspirants of both parties in the middlewest were overshadowed today by definite gains of the Democratic candidacy of Governor Al Smith and the Republican candidacy of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois in the North Dakota primaries.

North Dakota Republicans pledged thirteen votes in the national convention to Lowden while the Democrats gave Smith North Dakota's ten votes in the Democratic national convention.

The two candidates were unopposed and the total vote, considerably below normal, only registered the general apathy which has prevailed in the state.

Illinois Campaign Grows Hot.

With the Illinois primary only three weeks away, state campaigns with faint presidential reverberations grew hot and bitter. Secretary of state Louis Emmerson, candidate for governor; Otis Glenn, candidate for the senatorial nomination, and attorney general Carlstrom, seeking renomination, toured the state together, making from three to six speeches a day, each. Supporters of Governor Len Small, seeking renomination, and Frank L. Smith, who hopes to be elected a second time to the Senate seat he has not yet occupied, were conducting a vigorous campaign.

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, only presidential candidate in the field, was taking no active part in the campaign. Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, supporting Small and Smith, claimed added strength for his "draft Coolidge" movement in opposition to Lowden.

Indiana Primary May 10.

In Indiana, forces of Senator Watson and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, opposed for the presidential nomination, prepared for a brisk campaign which as yet has scarcely started. The primary is May 10.

In Wisconsin, supporters of Senator James A. Reed for the Democratic presidential nomination have started a vigorous campaign, and the Senator himself will tour the state March 31 and April 1 and 2, speaking at Key cities. With two complete slates of delegates favorable to Smith in the field, however, the Missourian's supporters were faced with a hard fight.

Lowden was certain to have strong support from Minnesota's convention delegation.

Sporadic Hoover movements were reported in Iowa, where the convention delegation already is in Lowden's pocket.

Smith Denounces Senate Action.

East St. Louis, Ill., Mar. 21.—United States Senator Designate Frank L. Smith of Illinois, in one of his last major campaign addresses before the April primary, denounced the Senate's rejection of him as "the quadriennial spasm of presidential candidates."

"The people of the State of Illinois," he said, "sent me to the United States Senate with an unimpeachable certificate of election, based on the sovereign right of a state to representation in that body, which must stop denying the constitutional rights of the people.

"The United States Senate never again will so far forget itself as to deny a great state its rights under the Constitution. In my campaign I am building the people's constitutional highway from Illinois to Washington, and I want to be the first passenger to traverse it."

The Senate, he said, is without jurisdiction to reject a candidate until after the oath of office is administered in conformity with the individual state's certificate of election.

Reed to North Carolina.

Washington, Mar. 21.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, will resume his speaking campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination next week, invading North Carolina and Wisconsin, it was learned today.

Reed has engagements to speak Monday and Tuesday at Raleigh, High Point, Chapel Hill and possibly Asheville, N. C. Later in the week he will speak at Milwaukee and Madison, Wis.

S-4 Comes Into Harbor at Last

With a flag half-masted on its conning tower, which was all that was visible of the water-filled wreckage, the submarine S-4 was towed to the Boston navy yard the other day for removal of the eight bodies of the crew of 40 that still remained in the craft. The S-4 was rammed and sunk three months before off Provincetown, Mass. After removal of the bodies the navy board of investigation was to inspect the hull to secure further evidence in its inquiry.

March 21
By United Press

The 13 Republican delegates from North Dakota will be pledged to Frank O. Lowden at the Republican National convention while the 10 democratic delegates will be pledged to Governor Alfred E. Smith. There was no opposition to Smith and Lowden at the primary yesterday.

Senator James A. Reed has decided to enter the Democratic presidential primary in Florida and West Virginia, it was announced in Washington.

Governor Smith permitted the use of his name in the Massachusetts Democratic presidential primary.

The New York state Hoover committee announced that poll of the New York state Who's Who showed a majority in favor of Herbert Hoover.

369 MILLION FOR THE NAVY

Can Appoint More Middies.

The need for trained naval aviators led the committee to increase from three to four the number of midshipmen at Annapolis that each congressman may appoint.

In reporting the bill, the committee also made public testimony given at its hearing by Secretary of Navy Wilbur and others.

It revealed that Wilbur had urged the need of legislation to prevent the government losing oil from its naval reserves to private companies on adjoining lands.

The committee today urged enactment of such legislation.

Wilbur also asked for $4,500,000 to store oil in the tanks at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Portsmouth, N. H., built by E. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, respectively, in exchange for royalty oil. Wilbur said this would stop rust and deterioration in these government tanks, now empty.

Surveying on Highway No. 48 at Rosendale

Work Is Begun to Locate Site for 102 River Bridge.—Burlington Surveyors There Also.

Rosendale, Mo., Mar. 21.—A crew of surveyors from the state highway department began here yesterday to locate a site for a bridge across the 102 river, over which highway No. 48 will pass.

Although the road law enacted by the legislature in 1921, provides that No. 48 must pass through Rosendale, coming west from King City, the surveyors are retracing a survey made last year, which misses the city limits to the south some twenty rods. Whether this is the final survey is not known, but as the work of locating a bridge south of town is the main object of this survey, it is presumed the road will be located there.

By this survey No. 48 will connect with No. 71 at the Kale Merritt farm, three miles west of Rosendale, on the Bennett Lane road.

A bunch of surveyors for the C. B. & Q., railroad were here yesterday also, in an effort to obtain a crossing for highway No. 48. It is thought that an underground crossing will be necessary.

It's rather dangerous to have untold wealth in March.

HARMONY IS THE KEYNOTE

ISO-VIS MOTOR OIL
STANDARD OIL COMPANY (INDIANA)
SERVICE

Motorists Are Praising Iso-Vis!

Iso-Vis is used and praised everywhere in the ten states of the Middle West.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has received thousands of letters from all parts of its territory—written by enthusiastic customers who voluntarily have taken the trouble to tell of their personal experiences with Iso-Vis. Here are a few quotations selected at random:

I am pleased to tell you of the success I have had with Iso-Vis Heavy in my Oakland Sedan. I am traveling on the road with a Dry Goods Concern out of St. Louis, Mo., and do considerable hard driving. I ran my car 2025 miles on one filling of Iso-Vis, adding but three quarts in this time. When the oil was drained it had a wonderful body and color left.
—Thos. E. Bayer, 316 West Ave., Clayton, Mo.

I wish to express my appreciation of the Standard Oil Company's latest achievement in lubricating oils—Iso-Vis. I am now able to drive my Ford Coupe around 1500 miles without changing oil. And I am obtaining the most wonderful results of any motor oil I have ever used.
—J. S. Bernens, South Bend, Ind.

I purchased a five gallon can of Iso-Vis and have continued to use it ever since. Am more than pleased with the results. It seems to give life to the motor and it also appears to run smoother. I change the oil every 1500 miles and the oil drained seems to have sufficient body for an additional 500 miles. In my judgment Iso-Vis is the best oil on the market.
—Leo Deeswister, 818 Cherry St., Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Maybe you've wondered how a new motor oil could become famous so fast. There are plenty of reasons for the popularity of Iso-Vis! Ask any motorist who has used it! It's such a remarkable oil and it gives such remarkable results that people want to talk about it—tell their friends what extraordinary service it has given them.

Iso-Vis has aroused widespread enthusiasm because it is the first motor oil to give constant lubricating efficiency—to keep a uniform and proper body throughout its service.

Iso-Vis is the constant viscosity motor oil—and if you'll try it once you'll learn just how much that means!

THE STORY THUS FAR

The jewel case in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell has been opened with a steel chisel after a futile battering with a poker. This leads Vance to the theory that Skeel did not commit the murder, but was hidden in the closet while the strangler did his work. Vance traces a picture to Alys La Fosse, who informs him Mannix was with her the evening of the murder. Cleaver also has an alibi, but Vance this. Spotswoode, who had gone out with the girl the evening she was murdered, asks to be allowed to visit her apartment again.

CHAPTER 30

"I think it's easily understandable, don't y' know," remarked Vance, with a sympathy I had rarely seen him manifest. "Your attitude needs no apology. History and fable are filled with the same situation, and the protagonists have always exhibited sentiments similar to yours. Your most famous prototype, of course, was Odysseus on the citron-scented isle of Ogygia with the fascinatin' Calypso. The soft arms of sirens have gone snaking round men's necks ever since the red-haired Lilith worked her devastatin' wiles on the impressionable Adam. We're all sons of that racy old boy."

Spotswoode smiled.

"You at least give me an historic background," he said. Then he turned to Markham. "What will become of Miss Odell's possessions—her furniture and so forth?"

"Seargeant Heath heard from an aunt of hers in Seattle," Markham told him. "She's on her way to New York, I believe, to take over what there is of the estate."

"And everything will be kept intact until then?"

"Probably longer, unless something unexpected happens. Anyway, until then."

"There are one or two little trinkets I'd like to keep," Spotswoode confessed, a bit shamefacedly, I thought.

After a few more minutes of desultory talk he rose, and, pleading an engagement, bade us good afternoon.

"I hope I can keep his name clear of the case," said Markham, when he had gone.

"Yes; his situation is not an enviable one," concurred Vance. "It's always sad to be found out. The moralist would set it down to retribution."

"In this instance chance was certainly on the side of righteousness. If he hadn't chosen Monday night for the Winter Garden, he might now be in the bosom of his family, with nothing more troublesome to bother him than a guilty conscience."

"It certainly looks that way." Vance glanced at his watch. "And your mention of the Winter Garden reminds me. Do you mind if we dine early? Frivolity beckons me tonight. I'm going to the 'Scandals.'

We both looked at him as though he had taken leave of his senses.

"Don't be so horrified, my Markham. Why should I not indulge an impulse? . . . . And, incidentally, I hope to have glad tidings for you by luncheon tomorrow."

Friday, September 14, noon)

Vance slept late the following day. I had accompanied him to the "Scandals" the night before, utterly at a loss to understand his strange desire to attend a type of entertainment which I knew he detested. At noon he ordered his car, and instructed the chauffeur to drive to the Belafield Hotel.

"We are about to call again on the allurin' Alys," he said. "I'd bring posies to lay at her shrine, but I fear dear Mannix might question her unduly about them.

Miss La Fosse received us with an air of crestfallen resentment.

"I might've known it!" She nodded her head with sneering perception. "I suppose you've come to tell me the cops found out about me without the slightest assistance from you." Her disdain was almost magnificent. "Did you bring 'em with you? . . . A swell guy you are!—But it's my own fault for being a damn fool."

Vance waited unmoved until she had finished her contemptuous tirade. Then he bowed pleasantly.

"Really, y' know, I merely dropped in to pay you my respects, and to tell you that the police have turned in their report of Miss Odell's acquaintances, and that your name was not mentioned in it. You seemed a little worried yesterday on that score, and it occurred to me I could set your mind wholly at ease."

The vigilance of her attitude relaxed.

"Is that straight? . . . My God! I don't know what would happen if Louey'd find out I'd been blabbing."

"I'm sure he won't find out, unless you choose to tell him. . Won't you be generous and ask me to sit down a moment?"

"Of course—I'm so sorry. I'm just having my coffee. Please join me." She rang for two extra services.

Vance had drunk two cups of coffee less than half an hour before, and I marveled at his enthusiasm for this atrocious hotel beverage.

"I was a belated spectator of the 'Scandals' last night," he remarked in a negligent, conversational tone. "I missed the revue earlier in the season. How is it you yourself were so late in seeing it?"

"I've been so busy," she confided. "I was rehearsing for 'A Pair of Queens'; but the production's been postponed. Louey couldn't get the theater he wanted."

"Do you like revues?" asked Vance. "I should think they'd be more difficult for the principals than the ordin'ry musical comedy.

"They are." Miss La Fosse adopted a professional air. "And they're unsatisfactory. The individual is lost in them. There's no real scope for one's talent. They're breathless, if you know what I mean."

"I should imagine so." Vance sipped his coffee. "And yet, there were several numbers in the 'Scandals' that you could have done charmingly; they seemed particularly designed for you. I thought of you doing them, and—d' ye know?—the thought rather spoiled my enjoyment of the young lady who appeared in them."

"You flatter me, Mr. Vance. But, really, I have a good voice. I've studied very hard. And I learned dancing with Professor Markoff."

"Indeed!" (I'm sure Vance had never heard the name before, but his exclamation seemed to imply that he regarded Professor Markoff as one of the world's most renowned ballet-masters.) "Then you certainly should have starred in the 'Scandals.' The young lady I have in mind sang rather indifferently, and her dancing was most inadequate. Moreover, she was many degrees your inferior in personality and attractiveness. . . Confess: didn't you have just a little desire last Monday night to be singing the 'Chinese Lullaby' song?"

"Oh, I don't know. Miss La Fosse carefully considered the suggestion. "They kept the lights awfully low; and I don't look so well in cerise. But the costumes were adorable, weren't they?"

"On you they certainly would have been adorable. . . What color are you partial to?"

"I love the orchid shades," she told him enthusiastically; "though I don't look bad in turquoise blue. But an artist once told me I should always wear white. He wanted to paint my portrait, but the gentleman I was engaged to then didn't like him."

Vance regarded her appraisingly.

"I think your artist friend was right. And, y' know, the St. Moritz scene in the 'Scandals' would have suited you perfectly. The little brunette who sang the snow song, all in white, was delightful; but really, now, she should have had golden hair. Dusky beauties belong to the southern climes. And she impressed me as lacking the sparkle and vitality of a Swiss resort in midwinter. You could have supplied those qualities admirably."

"Yes; I'd have liked that better than the Chinese number, I think. White fox is my favorite fur, too. But, even so, in a revue you're on in one number and off in another. When it's all over, you're forgotten." She sighed unhappily.

Vance set down his cup and looked at her with whimsically reproachful eyes. After a moment he said:

"My dear, why did you fib to me about the time Mr. Mannix returned to you last Monday night? It wasn't a bit nice of you."

"What do you mean!" Miss La Fosse exclaimed in frightened indignation, drawing herself up into an attitude of withering hauteur.

"You see," explained Vance, "the St. Moritz scene of the 'Scandals' doesn't go on until nearly eleven, and it closes the bill. So you couldn't possibly have seen it and also received Mr. Mannix here at half past ten.—Come. What time did he arrive here Monday night?"

The girl flushed angrily.

"You're pretty slick, aren't you? You shoulda been a cop. . . . Well, what if I didn't get home till after the show? Any crime in that?"

"None whatever," answered Vance mildly. "Only a little breach of good faith in telling me you came home early." He bent forward earnestly. "I'm not here to make you trouble. On the contr'ry, I'd like to protect you from any distress or bother. You see, if the police go nosing round, they may run on to you. But if I'm able to give the district attorney accurate information about certain things connected with Monday night, there'll be no danger of the police being sent to look for you."

Miss La Fosse's eyes grew suddenly hard and her brow crinkled with determination.

"Listen! I have't got anything to hide and neither has Louey. But if Louey asks me to say he's somewhere at half past ten, I'm going to say it—see. That's my idea of friendship. Louey had some good reason to ask it, too, or he wouldn't have done it.

"However, since you're so smart, and have accused me of playing unfair, I'm going to tell you that he didn't get in till after midnight. But if anybody else asks me about it, I'll see 'em in hell before I tell 'em anything but the half-past-ten story. Get that!"

Vance bowed.

"I get it; and I like you for it."

"But don't go away with the wrong idea," she hurried on, her eyes sparkling with fervor. "Louey may not have got here till after midnight, but if you think he knows anything about Margy's death, you're crazy. He was through with Margy a year ago. Why, he hardly knew she was on earth. And if any fool cop gets the notion in his head that Louey was mixed up in the affair, "ll alibi him—so help me God! —if it's the last thing I do in this world."

Prairie Star Holds Community Meeting

Next One to Be April 6, Featuring a School Exhibition.—Glenna Carver Moves.

PRAIRIE STAR—A large crowd attended the community meeting at the school house last Thursday night. We wish to compliment the entertainment committee, Mrs. Ed Holker, Mrs. Henry Morehouse and Mrs. Art Bonar, upon the good program that they provided. The refreshment committee Mrs. Charley Maley, Mrs. Ellisworth Thompson, and Mrs. Faye Morehouse —were likewise deserving for the excellent refreshment. Brick ice cream, two kinds of cake and coffee—and more of it than you could possibly eat.

The next meeting will be April 6. One feature of the program will be a school exhibition. The committees are: for entertainment, Opal Churchill, Leroy Rickman, and Orville Holker; for refreshments, Mrs. Pete Peve, Mrs. Ola Maxwell, and Mrs. Clint Gorman.

The school is making a number of interesting health posters.

We are very sorry to lose little Glenna Carver from our school. Glenna has been making her home with her uncle, Fred Glassford and family, but as they are soon leaving for Detroit, Mich., she has gone to live with her grandparents. She will go to the Union school in the Elmo consolidated district.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morehouse and family spent Friday evening with Irvin Lawler and family.

The entertainment committee met Monday evening at the home of Art Bonar.

Robert Bonar returned Sunday from Omaha where he has been working the past month.

Margaret and Rose Morehouse spent Sunday afternoon with Cleo and Helen Morehouse.

A number in this community are sowing oats this week.

Lowden to Have 24 Missouri Delegates

Illinoisan Probably Will Win Seven Delegates-at-Large Also, Says St. Louis Paper.

St. Louis, Mar. 21.—With the last of the thirty-two district delegates to the Republican national convention in Kansas City being selected yesterday at Maryville by the fourth district convention, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says Frank O. Lowden will have 24 of these 32 delegates. That paper says:

"The Lowden forces will be in control of the State convention in St. Joseph Monday, and will elect seven delegates-at-large, probably supporters of Lowden. If this plan is carried out the Missouri delegation will stand 31 for Lowden and eight anti-Lowden, the eight divided between Hoover, Hughes and Curtis. The Lowden organization believes it has a chance of winning over one of the eight."

The only districts of the sixteen to give instructions were the eighth, ninth, fourteenth and sixteenth, these four favoring Lowden. In the thirteenth district the convention "recommended" that the two delegates vote for Lowden. A direct instruction was not asked.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Mar. 21.—March wheat and corn futures attained new high levels for the season on the board of trade today only to be hit by a wave of profit taking that lost much of the advances.

Wheat found good support against realizing sales and the close was ½c to ⅞c up; corn had little support and sold off sharply to close ¼c to ¼c off. Oats was weak all day and closed ⅜c lower. Provisions closed higher.

Wheat led the general advance on reports of heavy abandonment of winter wheat in Kansas and Missouri. The March delivery was strongest of the day, holding generally above $1.41, a new figure for the delivery. Other news was bearish, although export business was temporarily checked, foreign traders being unwilling to follow the upturn here. Receipts 29 cars, and the cash market held unchanged.

Corn's upturn was mostly due to strength in wheat and to unconfirmed rumors of further export business. March corn was up sharply and all futures sold above $1 the highest point reached by the March delivery this season. Despite fairly large receipts of 225 cars, cash demand continued strong and cash prices advanced ½c to 1c.

The news of winter wheat abandonment which proved bullish to wheat had an opposite effect on oats. Most of the acreage abandoned will be seeded to oats, weakening the fundamental position of this market. The undertone was weak and the small gains were practically to reflected strength from other pits. Receipts totalled 49 cars and cash oats held unchanged.

SWEATERS TO 8 BEARCATS

AWARDS MADE AT COLLEGE THIS MORNING.

HARRIS TO GRADUATE

Others Getting Letters Are Burks, Ungles, Hedges, Iba, McKee. Davison and Ferguson.

Eight Bearcats of the State Teachers College basketball squad were awarded sweaters and letters this morning at regular assembly.

In presenting the awards, President Uel W. Lamkin gave each man his due in regard to his past basketball record. The number of stripes indicated the number of years of play on a Maryville team and a star indicated captaincy of a Bearcat team.

Lloyd Harris was the first to be called to the front of the auditorium. The president said that his only regret in awarding Harris his letter was that it bore only one stripe, the last, because Harris graduates this year.

Paul Burks' sweater bore a star and three stripes. Burks was co-captain with Leon Ungles, whose sweater was identically marked with Burks'.

Orville Hedges, "the Northwest Missouri boy of whom you have perhaps heard," was awarded the fourth sweater with three stripes adorning the left sleeve.

Howard Iba was next with one stripe earned this year.

Then Raymond McKee with one year's award.

Riley Davison came in for his first stripe.

And last was Raymond Ferguson with a sweater and two stripes, won in the last two years.

These were the men who in the minds of the athletic committee most deserved reward for their actual play and general meritorious attitude.

No captain has been elected for next year and it is understood that Coach Lawrence may wait until the beginning of the next basketball season to choose a captain, this being the common practice in many schools now.

M. H. S. Lettermen Entertained Tonight

Men Members of Faculty Host to Nine Approved by Council for Basketball Letters.

Nine athletes of the Maryville high school were approved yesterday by the Athletic Council to be awarded letters for their records during the basketball season. The lettermen will be entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner tonight in the Home Economics department given by the men members of the faculty.

The lettermen follow:

Erman Barrett, Ralph Hahn, Ray McArthur, George McMurry, Donald Price, Roland Russell, Leland Smith, Harry Wilson and Richard Sellers. Additional guests at the dinner will be Edgar Russell and Gerald Stultz.

The dinner hosts will be L. E. Ziegler, Herbert R. Dieterich, Wallace Croy, Hugh K. Graham, Elmer R. Coats and J. R. Houseman.

Seniors and Graders Win at Basketball

Underclassmen and Freshmen Teams Lose in Games Sponsored by Annual Staff.

Two basketball games were played yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium of the Maryville high school that gave plenty of enthusiasm to grade and high school students and lightened the financial burden the "Maryvillian" staff carries in getting out the annual publication of the school.

The seniors brought the underclassmen down to a 27 to 17 defeat, and the eighth grade proved too fast for the freshmen team, winning by a 14 to 7 score. While the teams were hurriedly organized, practically every player was the best available and offered real competition.

Herbert R. Dieterich was the referee, helped by Wallace Croy from the sideline, a neutral coach.

Little Change in Bowling Standings

Kansas City, Mar. 21.—The ten leaders in the American Bowling Congress standings remained nearly unchanged today after last night's play. Joseph Corcoran of Buffalo, N. Y., rolled the best game of the day with scores of 226, 231 and 223 for a total of 680.

Corcoran's score put him into a tie for fourth place in the singles standings with Capt. George Jarrett, army officers of Jersey City, N. J.

Originality means that one man has seen things that the balance have missed.

DISARMAMENT 'IMPRACTICAL'

U. S. JOINS IN REJECTION OF RUSSIAN PROPOSAL.

FOR ANTI-WAR PACTS

Multilateral Treaties Providing for Non-Aggression Are Better, Gibson Says at Geneva.

Geneva, March 21.—After six days of silence, the United States joined today with six other nations in calling the soviet program for immediate abolition of all armaments impractical.

Hugh S. Gibson, United States ambassador in Brussels, expressed the conviction that a treaty for the outlawry of war, such as Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg has proposed, would be of greater value now in promoting peace than any project of complete disarmament.

Gibson, the American delegate to the League of Nations' preparatory disarmament commission, said the United States would support fully a multilateral project for non-aggression and outlawry of war treaties, but could not logically and sincerely support any project which would abolish all armaments immediately.

In Unison With Other Powers.

In making this statement, he found himself in line with the expressions of chief delegates from England, France, Italy, Japan, Holland, and Sweden.

Rutgers of Holland today characterized the soviet project, which is being championed vigorously by Maxim Litcinof, who has demanded an immediate "yes or no" answer, as idealistic and impossible in the present state of humanity. The League must seek to limit armaments and prevent competitive building, rather than to abolish them entirely, he said.

With this statement, Hennings of Sweden was in complete accord.

Yesterday, De Marinis of Italy, Count Clauzel of France and Baron Seito of Japan attacked the soviet proposal on the same grounds.

British Spokesman Harsh.

But the most direct and emphatic objection came from Lord Cushendun of England who, using plain, fiuty language, charged the soviets had tried to sabotage the League, had tried to foment civil war in every nation of Europe. Until the soviets changed their political policy, they themselves would be the greatest obstacle to security and disarmament, Cushendun said.

With seven nations opposed to immediate action and to the thesis that immediate complete disarmament is possible, the soviet government finds itself supported only by Germany and Turkey.

The vigor of Gibson's attack came as a surprise. Those who had expected to find the United States a strange bedfellow with Turkey, Russia and Germany were astonished when Gibson outspokenly condemned the project.

"The soviet proposition originally was placed before us last November," Gibson said. "Therefore we have had three months to consider it."

Against Further Consideration.

Unlike Cushendun who, for diplomatic reasons, had urged careful and lengthy study of the proposals, the American ambassador said:

"If it (the soviet propect) appears not sound in principle, I can see no reason for further consideration.

"In reality, the project is entirely divergent from the basis of our work to date."

Gibson pointed out the commission merely was facing the question whether to depart from methods followed until the present time and approved by the governments concerned, or whether to continue as heretofore.

"The American delegation," he said, "sees no reason why further delay should be asked for the purpose of studying the soviet proposals. Instead, we feel we should continue immediately along the lines followed to date."

Need Is Desire for Peace.

The United States believes the most vital need to date is to create a universal desire for peace and pacific settlement of disputes, the American envoy said.

"With that, armaments will decrease naturally.

"In addition, if the United States cannot support at present a radical project for complete and immediate abolition of armaments, it is because public opinion at present does not demand such radical action."

American Girl to Prison for Life; Husband to Hang Alone

Ottawa, Ont., Mar. 21.—The department of justice today announced that the life of Doris McDonald would be spared and that instead of hanging on Friday with her husband, George, at Valley Field, Quebec, she would spend the remainder of her life in prison, probably at Kingston, Ont.

The American girl spent much of the time in grateful prayer in her cell.

The Nuns in charge of the jail on Fullum street here, where she is confined, gave her the news last night as she was about to go to services in the jail chapel.

Converted in Prison.

Tears streaming down her face, she clung to the sister who brought the tidings, and was led into the chapel, where she spent a long time.

The girl was converted to Catholicism during her stay in the jail and in the last few days, with the fear of death ever present, was reported to have undergone a great change.

The pleasure-loving girl, fond of drinking and gay parties, and partner in her husband's crimes, took sole refuge in religion. The love and devotion she has manifested for McDonald was no longer apparent and she said she did not wish to see him again or bid him goodbye.

She said she had "told many lies" in her efforts to save his life.

In prayer, she had prepared for the climb up the brilliantly painted gallows at Valley Field Friday to join her young husband in their last tryst—one with death.

Husband to Die Alone.

Now that tryst is gone. Only George, the young Nova Scotian lad, will go to the gallows Friday morning. The official board in Quebec did not give him a commutation of sentence.

Only this week an affidavit became public in which McDonald sought to spare his wife from death on the gallows. The affidavit said she had no part in the killing of Bouchard, that a confession she made in Denver was wrong and that he alone should be punished.

That affidavit was not the only thing used to save Doris McDonald. Petitions had been presented for her. Petitions were drawn up in the United States. Societies through that neighboring country had interceded in behalf of the girl. Much pressure was brought to bear to save her life.

Miller Bunch Wins in Rout, 52 to 22

Defeat Conway, Iowa, Team to Close Twenty-Two Game Schedule, Winning Sixteen.

The Hopkins Miller Bunch capped the season last night by winning from Conway, Ia., in a route, 52 to 22. The original Miller Bunch line-up played all the game except part of the last quarter, when the two most recent additions to the Hopkins independent organization, McKee and Baker were run in. Ted Baldwin was high point man with twenty-two points.

The Miller Bunch, originally a church organization sponsored by Dr. E. A. Miller, dentist and basketball fan of Hopkins, has won sixteen out of twenty-two games this season, two college teams, Conception and Palmer, being included in the schedule.

The Miller Bunch games this season included the following teams: Palmer College, Conception College, Tarkio, Savannah, Rosendale, Pickering, Barnard, Conway, Braddyville, Clearmont and Maryville.

SMITH DENIES SINCLAIR AID

NEW YORK GOVERNOR SCORES SENATE CHARGE.

'FALSE AND RECKLESS'

Oil Man Made No Contribution, "Al" Replies.—Racing Commissioner 4 Years Before Scandal.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 21.—Governor Alfred E. Smith has sent a letter to Senator Gerald P. Nye, who is conducting part of the Teapot Dome investigations, denying that Harry F. Sinclair, oil man, contributed to his campaign fund in 1920.

The letter:

"My Dear Senator Nye:—

"You are quoted in the daily papers this morning (March 20) as having said yesterday on the floor of the Senate, 'I do understand that in the campaign of 1920 at which Governor Smith was elected, Mr. Sinclair was a very liberal contributor to his cause and that following the election, he was made a member of the racing commission of the state of New York.'

"Statements Reckless."

"Senator Robinson of Indiana made a similar statement. Your information, wherever you got it, is in every respect false and these statements were recklessly made.

"A careful search of the official records, made at my request today, confirms my recollection that Mr. Sinclair never contributed to my campaign fund, either in 1920 or at any other time that I ran for office; in fact, I failed of election as governor in 1920 and Mr. Sinclair had been appointed to the racing commission months prior to that election, some four years before there was any thought of the oil scandal. A few months before the end of his term early in 1925, I accepted his resignation.

"I do not propose that either you or Senator Robinson of Indiana shall escape public humiliation for the infamous insinuation you have made by your pretense of disclaiming desire to cast reflection on me or stating that your committee has no concern with the matter.

"No Basis Whatever."

"Without the slightest warrant in fact and with no basis whatever you have both made false statements from which you evidently calculated that people should be misled into believing that I was some way a beneficiary to the oil scandal.

"This, no doubt, is a Republican counsel of desperation to escape in some nature the penalty for the disgraceful record of the Republican party in connection with the scandal. No such red herrings can be dragged across the trail. The complete baselessness of your demagogic slander has aroused the indignation with which I make this protest against your outrageous conduct.

"Very truly yours,
ALFRED E. SMITH."

Accepted by Nye.

Washington, Mar. 21.—Governor Al Smith's denial that he received any campaign contributions from Harry Sinclair "must be accepted as final," Chairman Nye of the Teapot Dome committee declared today.

"It is a good, flat statement," Nye said. "Knowing Smith, we must accept this statement as disapproving any charge which has been made that he was the recipient of any contribution from Mr. Sinclair."

CREW OF S-4 DIED AT POSTS SEEKING HELP

Naval Board of Inquiry, Completing Interior Inspection, Finds Men Suffered From Cold.

Boston, March 21.—The naval board of investigation today completed examination of the interior of the hull of the submarine S-4, where a majority of the crew of forty men were believed to have lived for hours after the fatal crash off Provincetown.

The 250 questions for which the board must find answers, continued to attract attention, although the manner in which the 40 members of the crew died was known.

They died at their posts, fighting to be saved.

The walls of the engine and motor compartments were indented in many places, indicating to the board of inspection that the men had knocked, probably in telegraphic code, for some sort of aid. Calls for aid from the six men in the torpedo room were heard, though aid could not be sent them owing to high seas.

The men became hungry in their underground prison. The pantry of the engine room had been opened. Sardine cans were found hacked open. Raw potatoes, some of them partly eaten, were found.

The men suffered from cold while they waited for death, investigators said. The temperature was estimated at only 34 degrees under the water. Coats and tarpaulins were found in the engine room.

Predicts New Party in Farm Bill Vetoed

Governor McMullen, Nebraska, Says Farm Party Will Be Formed, Based on "Economic Fairness for All."

Lincoln, Neb., March 21.—A new political party will come into existence if the McNary-Haugen bill is passed by both houses and subsequently vetoed by President Coolidge, Governor Adam McMullen, Republican, Nebraska, declared today in a telegram to Representative Haugen, chairman of the House agriculture committee.

"It will be the farm party," McMullen said, "and will unite the West and the South in a common cause—the inalienable right of every man to receive a just return for his labor.

"It will be a permanent party based on economic fairness for all. It will hold the balance of power in the nation. It will make agricultural production the basic unit of value just as agriculture itself is the basic industry."
